

HARVARD SUBS TO PLAY THE INDIANS

Coach Haughton Refuses to Start His Regulars.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 10.—"Harvard booked Carlisle on this season's football schedule for the main purpose of giving the subs a chance to work under conditions which would serve to make them of more value to us in the bigger game to follow," said Coach Haughton. In a statement made public to-night, the coaches and trainers believed that the game would be the best way to bring the men up to scratch for the Dartmouth and Yale contests, and our line-up to-morrow is in line with this policy which we told the football squad when it assembled last September.

"When the squad reported for practice this fall we told them the subs, whoever they might prove to be, were assured of getting into one big contest, the game with Carlisle. Howard and Hollister will play the end to-morrow. Both men have hardly recovered from recent injuries. Hollister's drop kick gave us a chance for a 55-yard run and touchdown in the Princeton game. Jencks and Stowe will perform as tackles, with McGuire and Keyes working as guards. Parmenter will occupy the pivot position. Freedy or Bradley will direct the team affairs, with Bob Blackall playing full back and doing the punting. Reynolds and Morrison will be mates at half back.

Warner brought his Indians into Boston to-day twenty-four strong. The weather was rainy, but conditions to-night promise something better on the morrow. The Indians, while they are not overconfident of winning, are determined to do their utmost. Capt. Burd will not play. Lone Star playing in his stead. Half Back Thorpe, who did not play against Pennsylvania, is down, however, to start to-morrow.

TIGERS ARE PRIMED.

Princeton Expects Hard Game with Dartmouth Eleven.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 10.—A short signal drill was all the Tigers did this afternoon in final preparation for the hard game with Dartmouth to-morrow on Osborne Field. The men were given a rest during the first three days of the week, and were scheduled for hard work for the latter part of the week, but the rain and mud has operated against them. The Orange and Black respect the prowess of the Dartmouth eleven, and know they will have to extend themselves to take the Green into camp to-morrow. The management here has tried to keep the field in good condition, despite the rain. A thick covering of straw was placed on the gridiron last night before the rain, so if it clears to-night, as is the indication now, the field will be dry and fast for the game to-morrow.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 10.—The names of new stockholders of the Boston American League baseball club were given out to-day. The new stockholders are Jake Stahl, who will manage the team; C. H. Randle, a Chicago capitalist; H. M. Nahan, of the South Side National Bank of Chicago; Robert D. McRoy, present secretary of the American League and representing Ban Johnson, and James A. McAleer, former manager of the Washingtons.

Taft to See Army-Navy Game.
President Taft has been invited to attend the Army and Navy football game in Philadelphia, on November 25. Secretary of the Navy Meyer and Secretary of War Stimson will probably see the game. Although no word has been received from the President, it is expected here that he will attend.

Stahl Boston Manager Now.
Boston, Mass., Nov. 10.—President John Taylor, of the Boston Americans, to-day received a telegram from James A. McAleer, president-to-be of the club, who is in Chicago, announcing that he had signed Garland Stahl to manage the team and play first base next year.

English Athletics Hopeful.
English athletes are training vigorously for the Olympic games, and the London sporting writers are confident that England will regain some of its lost prestige at Stockholm.

Jack Johnson Refuses.
Jack Johnson has turned down Hugh McIntosh's offer to go to Australia and meet Sam Langford, the Boston "tar baby."

EAST AND WEST ELEVENS CLASH

Michigan and Cornell Battle To-day.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 10.—One of the hardest fought sectional battles of the year will be fought here to-morrow, when Michigan and Cornell, for the first time since 1894, will meet on the gridiron on Percy Field, and, judged by the big throng of visitors in town to-night, it will be one of the biggest fall athletics day in Cornell's history. In spite of Coach Yost's expressions, as he talked here this noon, Michigan rules favorably by the odds of 10 to 7, but there is plenty of confidence that Cornell's regular team is coming through to-morrow with a surprise. Cornell's final preparation was an hour's signal drill on the field with eight coaches looking them over. They looked good. They spent some time punting and it is evident that Cornell will use a kicking game for some time to-morrow. The Cornell line-up is: End; Jack and Fritz, ends; Munk and Champagn, tackles; O'Rourke and Munns, guards; Whyte, center; Butler, quarter back; Wyconno, J. S. Whyte, half backs, and Underhill, full back.

The Michigan team arrived here to-day and went immediately to Rutgers Harbor, where they held secret practice. Yost said that many of his good men were in poor shape. The Michigan line-up will be Smith, Pontius, ends; Gonklin and Bogie, tackles; Quinn and Jayvor, guards; Patterson, center; Hickard, quarter back; Campbell and Wells, half backs, and Thompson, full back. Dave Puliz, of Brown, will referee, and Sharp, of Yale, umpire.

After December 1 the Stevens-Duryea

line of cars, represented in this city by T. Lamar Jackson, will be on display at 1218 Connecticut avenue, the latest showroom to be built on this Fifth avenue of Washington. In addition to a showroom, a supply department will be conducted, which will be under the supervision of Elton Picken.

J. H. Picken, of the service department of the United States Tire Company, was in the city yesterday for a few hours. During his stay he was the guest of E. H. Johansen, local representative of the United States Tire Company.

The Cook & Stoddard Company has delivered six Baker electric trucks to the Government Printing Office. These trucks range in size from five tons down to 1,000 pounds, and are to be used in distributing mail matter for the government departments.

C. F. Payne, of the Waverley Electric Company, who is in the city for a few days as the guest of the Luttrell Company, local representatives of the car, had a novel experience yesterday, when he was arrested for violating the speed limit in an electric. At the time of the arrest he was driving the Waverley demonstrator just received by the Luttrell Company from the freight station to the showroom at Connecticut avenue and Dupont circle. While coming up Massachusetts avenue, between Sixteenth street and Dupont circle, a bicycle policeman overtook him and informed him that he was under arrest for violating the speed limit of twelve miles an hour. In filing the complaint the officer charged him with traveling at the rate of twenty-one miles an hour. Mr. Payne was permitted to go, after leaving $10 collateral.

Robert Haskins, who for some time past has been identified with one of the larger automobile firms of the city, will this evening sever his allegiance with that concern and after Monday morning devote his time and energy to pointing out the merits of Buick cars, the sales force of which concern he will be a member of after to-day.

The Carter Motor Car Corporation have sold seven-seven Washington cars to Charles A. Ruppert and W. H. Wymen and a five-passenger machine of the same make to O. C. Sears.

"In every big race of the past two years the Lozier has been represented, and out of fifteen strats has failed to finish but once, and every time in the money, which I consider a record that has been equaled by very few if any of the cars of this kind. The Lozier is a mobile racing," said W. M. Giesey, of the Lozier Sales Company, yesterday in speaking of automobile racing. "There is one form of sport that is never tiring, and that is automobile racing on horse tracks. The great majority of accidents that have happened to racing drivers have been on tracks of this kind, which are not safe for fast driving. No mile track with a dirt surface and that is not banked on the turns is safe for a machine traveling at high speed. After going around once or twice the course is so torn up that it is as much a case of good luck as good driving that the car stays on the course at all. We think too much of our drivers and our cars to risk them in this kind of sport."

W. J. Jones, Southeastern distributor of the Oakland, was in the city yesterday for a few hours calling on M. T. Pollock.

COMMISSION SAYS NO.

Refuses to Share with Players in Picture Receipts.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 10.—The national baseball commission to-day announced that it would refuse to share with the members of the New York Giants proceeds from the moving pictures of the recent world's series between the Giants and the Athletics. A committee from the Giants had levied a demand for a pro rata share of the moving picture receipts.

Thomson School Wins.
Although completely outweighed by the Alexandria High School, the Thomson School yesterday scored a victory over the Alexandrians, 11 to 8. The feature of the game was the playing of the backs for both teams. The Alexandrians lost by their own fumbles and trick plays worked by the Thomson aggregation.

Mugger McGraw Still Worrying.
Some of the big league managers refuse to give themselves time to forget their worries and hopes. McGraw is one of them. The Giants' leader is delivering harangues and speeches at banquets all the while the chances of next year are fully set forth.

Will Killing Make Good Threat?
Now that Fred Tenney has been appointed manager of the Boston Red Sox, will Johnny Kling make good his announcement that he would retire if he was not given the job?

VAST SWAMP LAND NEAR WASHINGTON

Could Be Easily Reclaimed, Says Expert Engineer.

That there are hundreds of acres of swamp land about Washington which could be easily reclaimed at a small cost and transformed into productive farm sites was the assertion of Arthur Powell Davis, chief engineer of the United States Reclamation Service, in an illustrated lecture last night at the Commercial Club on the work being undertaken by the bureau of the government. Mr. Davis said that the feasibility of the reclamation of surrounding swamp lands is obvious.

In Virginia there are 1,500 square miles of swamp land, and Maryland has about 200 square miles of such land. In the great Potomac swamp there are 160,000 acres. The question of draining the Dismal Swamp was first suggested by George Washington, but his plan for reclamation was not executed, and the land still remains a waste. Mr. Davis said that the presence of such large areas of swamp land in the East well illustrates the difficulty of conducting such projects under the present management. The speaker said that in the entire United States there are between 70,000,000 and 80,000,000 acres of swamp land which it is possible to convert into rich and productive soil.

Describes Roosevelt Dam.
The lecturer stated that reclamation work is now being conducted by the government in fifteen different States. Twenty-eight projects for the reclamation of arid regions are now being conducted in the West. One of the largest of these projects is the Salton undertaking in Arizona. In connection with this project is the massive dam which was named after former President Roosevelt. By means of a large collection of clear and graphic slides, Mr. Davis showed progress of the work of reclaiming the Salton delta.

He also spoke of the Yuma project on the Colorado River at Laguna, Ariz., and of an extensive project in Southern Idaho, on the Snake River. The lecturer showed the practical results of the reclamation work. He displayed scenes of the land before the work had been undertaken—arid and desert, with sagebrush and cactus growing here and there—and then scenes of the land after the completion of the work by the government—rich and fertile, with wheat fields and productive orchards covering the old waste.

Great Wyoming Project.
Mr. Davis spoke of the great Wyoming dam, which is the highest now in existence, being 225 feet from the foundation to the crest. The height of the dam was well illustrated when placed on the lantern slide side by side with the Capitol building. The dam exceeded the Capitol in height.

All of the dams are built in an arch form to insure stability. The great pressure of the large volume of water contained in the reservoir and of the crashing blocks of ice forcing down from the mountain heights in the early spring would likely cause a rupture in an ordinary straight wall.

The lecture last night was one of a course of Friday evening entertainments at the clubhouse, and was arranged by the entertainment committee, of which Fred S. Lincoln is chairman.

Mr. Davis, upon the suggestion of John Hays Hammond, was recently sent to Russia to act in an advisory capacity to the government of that country. Since that time he has gone to Hungary in similar capacity.

MAJ. JUDSON PRESENTS FLAG.

Hubbard School Honored on Mount Pleasant Playgrounds.

There was a big time on the Mount Pleasant Playground yesterday afternoon, when Commissioner Judson presented to the children of the Hubbard School the big pennant they won for the highest number of points scored in the interschool playground contest. Pupils of the Ross, Powell, and Johnson schools were present to congratulate the winners. E. S. Martin, supervisor of Washington playgrounds, assisted in the presentation, introducing Commissioner Judson to the pupils.

Miss Aldine Dent, a sixteen-year-old pupil of the Hubbard School, received the pennant from Maj. Judson on behalf of the children. Miss Florence Kent, director of playgrounds in Mount Pleasant, gave a short talk to the pupils on the value of concerted effort.

MARKHAM MAY LEAVE CAPITAL.

Assistant Commissioner Probably Will Get Another Post.

It is believed that Capt. E. M. Markham, Assistant Engineer Commissioner, will be transferred to another post after taking the examination on November 29 in New York City for promotion to the rank of major. Capt. Markham has already served for in excess of four years, the customary term of army officers assigned to that position under the District Government.

Capt. Markham was appointed Assistant Engineer Commissioner July 17, 1907. He has charge of the sewer and water departments and all details of underground construction. Only recently he was appointed consulting engineer by the new municipal government of Jacksonville, Fla.

THROWN FROM HIS HORSE.

Sergt. Simon J. Harry Suffers Bruises on His Legs.

Sergt. Simon J. Harry, of the Tenth precinct, narrowly escaped being crushed to death under his horse while riding in Adams Mill road shortly after 5 o'clock last night.

The officer was riding along his beat when his horse shied at a motorcycle. Harry was thrown and the horse rolled on top of him. He was severely cut and bruised on the hands and legs, but was able to resume duty after his injuries were treated.

Plan Big Indiana School Meet.

Purdue University will hold next May the first intercollegiate baseball tournament in the history of the sport, and each of the 22 high schools in Indiana has been invited to enter a team in the fight for the cup.

May Revive Lacrosse at Columbia.

An attempt has been made at Columbia to revive lacrosse, which was abolished last year because of lack of interest in the game.

Horse at 125 to 1 Wins.

A colt named Volador, a rank outsider, quoted at 125 to 1, recently won the $20,000 Argentine Derby, the South American Turf classic.

New Player for Rochester.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Nov. 10.—The Kalamazoo baseball club to-day announced the sale of Left Fielder Streeter to the Rochester club of the Eastern League.

COURT IN UPROAR AT HOT RETORT

Lawyer Called "Blackguard" as Judge Approves.

New York, Nov. 10.—By calling his inquisitor a "blackguard," Edward Lauterbach, a noted lawyer, created an unusual scene in the City Court to-day and brought to an abrupt end the suit against Mrs. Nevada Van Valkenburg by Artist Woolfe to recover $2,000 in payment for a life-size painting of the "Million Dollar Widow," gowned as "Prima Vera."

Attorney Lauterbach, testifying for his client, showed that Mrs. Van Valkenburg had never ordered the painting.

"I am going to ask you a very delicate, personal question, and you need not answer it unless you like to," said Lawyer Strohm.

"You may ask any question you like," the witness replied, indifferently.

"Were your relations with Mrs. Van Valkenburg such that at the time that your wife sued you for a divorce they caused the action to go against you?"

"You may make any answer you please to such a question as that," sharply interjected Justice O'Dwyer, with flushed face, half rising from his seat.

"In the first place, your indignation is untrue," Mr. Lauterbach replied slowly and carefully, seeming to weigh each word with utmost care, "and in the second place, you are a blackguard, sir."

"And, sir," he continued, after a pause, "your question is the most insulting I have ever heard put to a witness."

Mrs. Van Valkenburg testified that she posed for the picture only because she thought it would help Woolfe. The jury by direct verdict returned a verdict in favor of the artist, which will be read to-morrow.

BRANCH LIBRARIES FOR NEW SCHOOLS

Would Increase Circulation, Says Mr. Bowerman.

Recommending the establishment of special library rooms in new public schools erected in Washington as branches of the District Public Library, Librarian George F. Bowerman, in his seventh annual report to the Commissioners, declares that thousands of children, who do not patronize the Public Library now because of its remoteness from their homes, would soon become enrolled as users of books.

Pointing out the fact that many cities smaller than Washington are establishing systems of branch libraries, Mr. Bowerman says it is his belief that the home circulation of the Public Library is disproportionately small for a registration of more than 50,000 persons.

Of 65,000 children in Washington between the ages of five and seventeen years, only 10,000 are registered as library users, according to the report. These 10,000 users of books draw out each year about 120,000 volumes, but this number could be largely increased, according to Mr. Bowerman, who says:

"With a system of branches distributed throughout the city, the number of all homes, it would be possible to enroll as library users a very large proportion of the population, and especially of the children of school age, and both those who are now enrolled and those who would then be enrolled would use a very much larger number of books per capita than is now practicable in view of the remoteness of the central library from the homes of most readers."

ROYAL ARCANUM MEET.

Annual Visitation of Grand Regent to Annapolis Council.

In a round of oratory and good-fellowship that had its immediate inspiration in the brilliant address delivered before the Annapolis Council, No. 128, the evening before by the grand regent, the members of the supreme regent of the Royal Arcanum, Howard G. Avery, of Norfolk, Va., Annapolis Council, No. 275, last night provided for the entertainment of the grand regent and his accompanying staff, one of the most interesting and enjoyable programmes of the season.

The event was an annual visit of the grand regent to Annapolis Council, in which occasion the council chamber in Pythian Temple had been appropriately decorated. As Grand Regent Sidney I. Bessellville and his escort filed into the room they were welcomed formally by E. F. Goodwin, regent of the council, and ushered to well-laden tables, where a repast was served prior to the beginning of the programme that had been arranged.

Those who delivered interesting addresses were Grand Regent Bessellville; George S. Britt, Harry G. Lenz, and W. C. Clark, past grand regents; Benjamin White, grand secretary; Edwin A. Nelson, grand chaplain, and George P. Conn, grand guide.

At Kliment Council the event was known as past grand regent, and those officers conducting the initiatory ceremonies in connection with a class of twenty new members. In honor of the event the supreme regent, J. H. T. Thompson, of Massachusetts, sent as his personal representative Howard G. Avery, who aroused a degree of enthusiasm rarely witnessed in this city.

The meeting was presided over by Regent G. S. Britt, and the arrangements were in charge of Past Grand Regent Arthur Cook and a committee of competent assistants. The next visitation is scheduled for Thursday evening, November 16, when Francis Scott Key Council will be waited upon in Georgetown.

STEALS WORTHLESS PAPERS.

The thief who entered the home of John C. Smith, 202 Fourth street northwest, shortly after noon yesterday had a good nose for pocketbooks, but a bad scent for money. Instead of stealing a purse containing a number of crisp bills, the robber grabbed a pocketbook filled with papers and insurance policies of no value whatever to any one save their owner.

He was shortly after the thief had made his escape that the owner of the two pocketbooks returned and discovered his loss. At first he believed his money had been stolen, but on investigation found that his bank roll was intact and had not been recognized by the thief.

Boy Accidentally Shot.

While playing with a gun near Four Mile Run, Va., yesterday afternoon, Raymond Hurley, sixteen years old, of 61 K Street southwest, was shot through the left foot. The boy was brought to Emergency Hospital, where he received treatment. His injury, the physicians attending him declare, is not serious.

Saks & Company

Pennsylvania Avenue.

OPEN UNTIL 9 O'CLOCK TO-NIGHT.

Be a "Show-me" Man.

He isn't swayed by glittering generalities, but goes hunting after the details. He's the man who wants to turn a garment inside out—to see what the vitals are and learn how they are tailored. We like him, because in his critical inspection he finds out where the excellence of our Clothing lies. When he completes his investigations he knows—what the average man finds out by experience—that the shapeliness they have they hold; that the fit is not accident, but careful designing.

The more you scrutinize, the more enthusiastic you become over the Saks Clothing. The same results cannot be obtained except under similar conditions—with similar ambitions. It was ambition to sell the BEST that induced us to do our own making—so we are a long way ahead of even the nearest competition. Better, without costing you a penny more.

We've over a hundred different styles of Overcoats—between $10 and $50. And over a hundred styles of Suits, too, between $10 and $40.

That's the widest variety you'll find anywhere—shows how complete our provision—that every man shall have just what he wants, no matter how extreme or how conservative his taste may

You'll find the $15 grade of Suits and Overcoats especially varied in style and pattern, and specially strong in value. It's a "hobby" grade with us, in a way. We've tried to see just how strong we could possibly make it—and we've graded the usual $20 standard.

All votes cast for the winning of any extra prizes or special prizes during the life of the contest will count on the final close for the winning of the trips.

NEWS OF ALEXANDRIA

Plans for Thanksgiving Celebration Made Public.

Alexandria, Va., Nov. 10.—Union Thanksgiving services will be held here November 30 at 11 o'clock at the Methodist Episcopal Church South. A sermon will be preached by Rev. Dr. John Lee Allison
